

MINOR RESEARCH PROJECT

Title: Messages given to the present society by some women in Ramayana and Mahabharat's

Dr.S.Vasantha Kumari, Lecturer, Department of Telugu, Sri Govinda Raja Swamy Arts College, TTD, Tirupati completed UGC Minor Research Project entitled “ Messages given to the present society by some women in Ramayana and Mahabharat's. For this project UGC granted an amount of 1.15 lakhs.

The objectives of the project are identifying some great women in Ramayana and Mahabharat's and to evaluate their greatness and also analyse the messages given by them with their practical lives to the present society.

Total Nine Women i.e. Four women from Ramayana namely Seetha Devi, Sabhari, Thaara, Mandodhari and five women from Mahabharath namely Droupadhi, Kunthidevi, Shakunthala, Sathee savatri, Dhamayanthi are identified as the great Women who given inspiring messages and found that the Nine great Women are roll models to Hindu Dharma, Heritage and Culture.

The messages given by the above said Nine great Women are analysed in the Minor Research Project. The messages are highly useful to the Women in the present society to overcome their fears, depressions and to stop the attempts of suicides. The messages are very helpful to the women in the present society to face and solve their problems boldly. The messages definitely inspired the women in the present society and also helpful in building up their personality and to change their attitudes into positive.